Our Black brown Rice

The Nerone rice is an extra quality black brown rice.

This means that it contains only 1/3 of the total shortage fixed by law.

The rice seed presents an intense and shining dark color, due to the high concentration of anthocyanin, the famous color molecules with an important antioxidant function and contained also in blueberries.

The anthocyanin play an important role on the whole organism and are a natural antidote against ageing.

In particular:

- Fight the capillary fragility (cellulite, varicose veins, hemorrhoids)
- Thanks to their anti-edema action, they're very useful to solve water-retention problems
- Important for eye fragility and capillary permeability
- They're a cure-all for the whole cardiovascular system
- Characterized by a scavenger action against the free radicals and carcinogenic agents

The black brown rice Nerone, is an health allied:

- It is rich in anthocyanin with antioxidant action
- It contains 4 times more iron than other rice varieties, that makes this rice functional for anemia and tiring cases
- It is a silicon source, an important mineral salt for the bone metabolism
- It is a selenium source, a strong antioxidant
- It is a magnesium source, 12% more than the other black rice varieties
- It is a phosphorus source, 34% more than the other black rice varieties
- It has 7% less calories than the other black rice varieties

In the kitchen: Nerone rice goes well with fish, shellfish and mussels. It is also perfect for rice salads or simply boiled and dressed with oil.
